Hebi-Ichigo is a logic puzzle invented by Nikoli. The goal is to insert the numbers 1 to 5 according to the rules: - Numbers form a sequential chain of five cells from 1 ("head") to 5 ("tail") connected horizontally and vertically ("snake"). - Snakes cannot touch other snakes horizontally or vertically, diagonally is allowed. - Snakes are not allowed to appear in front of the head of another snake. The snake's eyes are located on a side of the head (cell with number 1), opposite from the side its body (cell with number 2) is connected to. A snake looks in the direction of its eyes until a black cell or the edge of the grid is reached. - The number in the black cell shows the value of the nearest number in the direction of the arrow. This number must appear before any other black cells. A black cell with a zero means there is no snake in the direction of the arrow until the next black cell or the edge of the grid. brain teasers for adults - brain teaser puzzles - brain teaser puzzles for adults - brain teaser games - brain teaser books for adults - brain teaser adult - brain teaser for adults - brain teaser games for adults - brain teaser gifts - brain teaser high school - logic puzzles for adults - logic puzzle books for adults - logic puzzle books - logic puzzle adult - logic puzzle books for adults variety - logic puzzle for adults - logic puzzle game - logic puzzle grid

Handbook of Research on Tools for Teaching Computational Thinking in P-12 Education - Kalogiannakis, Michail 2020-06-26

While the growth of computational thinking has brought new awareness to the importance of computing education, it has also created new challenges. Many educational initiatives focus solely on the programming aspects, such as variables, loops, conditionals, parallelism, operators, and data handling, divorcing computing from real-world contexts and applications. This decontextualization threatens to make learners believe that they do not need to learn computing, as they cannot envision a future in which they will need to use it, just as many see math and physics education as unnecessary. The Handbook of Research on Tools for Teaching Computational Thinking in P-12 Education is a cutting-edge research publication that examines the implementation of computational thinking into school curriculum in order to develop creative problem-solving skills and to build a computational identity which will allow for future STEM growth. Moreover, the book advocates for a new approach to computing education that argues that while learning about computing, young people should also have opportunities to create with computing, which will have a direct impact on their lives and their communities. Featuring a wide range of topics such as assessment, digital teaching, and educational robotics, this book is ideal for academicians, instructional designers, teachers, education professionals, administrators, researchers, and students.

Dave's Logic Puzzles - David F. Curran

Usowan (from Japanese, literally "one liar") is a logic puzzle published by Nikoli. A grid is divided into rectangular and square regions. Some of the cells in the grid are numbered. The aim is to blacken some cells of a grid according to the following rules: - Cells with numbers are always white. - A number in a cell indicates how many black cells must be placed adjacent to its four sides. However, in each region there is one (and only one) wrong number (it shows a wrong amount of black cells). - Two black cells must not be orthogonally adjacent. - All of the white cells must be connected. math puzzles for kids - math puzzles and brainteasers grades 3-5 - math puzzles and brainteasers grades 6-8 - math puzzle books for middle school - math puzzle books for kids age 9 12 - math puzzle books for kids

Funny Brain Teasers - Sandra Berry

2018-07-23

Snake (also known as "Tunnel") is a kind of logic puzzles. It is played on a rectangular or square grid, where two cells are marked. The task is to draw a single line ("snake") between marked cells; this line never touches itself, not even diagonally. Numbers outside the grid show how many cells must be blackened in the corresponding row or column. brain teasers for adults - brain teaser puzzles - brain teaser puzzles for adults - brain teaser games - brain teaser books for adults - brain teaser adult - brain teaser for adults - brain teaser games for adults - brain teaser gifts - brain teaser high school - logic puzzles for adults - logic puzzle books for adults - logic puzzle books - logic puzzle adult - logic puzzle books for adults variety - logic puzzle for adults - logic puzzle game - logic puzzle grid

Strimko Book 1 - Tanya Grabarchuk 2017-10-27

Strimko is a logic number puzzle invented by The Grabarchuk Family in 2008. It is based on the idea of Latin squares described by a Swiss mathematician and physicist Leonhard Euler (1707-1783) in the 18th century. All Strimko puzzles are solvable with a pure logic, no special knowledge is required. Strimko uses only three basic elements: rows, columns, and streams. All elements have equal numbers of cells, and the goal is to make each row, column, and stream containing the whole set of specified numbers. Cells in the grid are organized into several streams of equal length, which often run diagonally and even branching. Such mechanics creates entangled patterns resulting in interesting challenges and unusual logic. This book contains a specially designed collection of 150 easy-to-master puzzles with 4 x 4 through 7 x 7 grid sizes. Puzzles are arranged from the easiest to the hardest ones so that you'll progress in solving skills with each next puzzle. Strimko challenges were handcrafted by Helen, Tanya, Serhiy, and Peter Grabarchuk, and up to date hundreds of original Strimko puzzles were published in various forms and platforms.
